

We are entrusted with one of the most sacred and vital missions we could ever undertake: to save our living planet—and ourselves in the process—from utter devastation.

Life, in its myriad forms, is an incredibly precious, fragile, yet resilient force, as we have come to realize over the past few decades through scientific discoveries and a deeper understanding of this wondrous miracle. Over the course of millennia, this mysterious force has given rise to a cornucopia of species displaying the dazzling beauty that sensitive minds have come to cherish.

But for many people, caught in the endless treadmill of survival in an often violent world, devoid of empathy for the plight of its less fortunate members, the wonders of the natural world sustaining us all are almost invisible. It is indeed harder to see their value when faced with the many challenges posed by cultural, religious and economic norms designed for the benefit of a minority at the expense of the majority.

The purpose of this Manifesto is to open up a world of exciting possibilities for minds that are receptive enough to recognize the need for a renewal of our collective perception of the miracle of Life. It will thus help lay out a pathway towards a bright and viable future, through the countless acts of deliberate kindness and Love for Mother Terra made possible and inspired by the vision this living document strives to embody.

Both a call to the deepest living consciousness, thriving in us and in countless other forms of Life, to arise and shine, and also a lifeline thrown to us so we may all soar to a higher level of existence in this physical realm, the ideas you are absorbing as you read these lines are the germinal seeds for the transformation of our civilization. May they fall on the fertile ground of an open-minded soul, awakening to the grandeur of its immanent destiny.

Peace is the Way

War is on the verge of destroying all Life on Earth. Waging war against alleged 'enemies' and frightening us with made up fears, designed to keep us enslaved to ignorance, are the means used by hidden forces which for centuries have imperiled Earth and perverted the human spirit. To counteract this malevolence, that has crept into every aspect of mainstream culture to keep humans down and prevent them from rising to their full potential, agents of change are subtly guiding us back to peaceful harmony through inspiring cultural expressions of Love and beauty arising from their innate resonance with Source.

We have within us the power to once again turn this world into a crucible of transformative manifestations of that Love from Source.

The key to make this happen is simply to believe in ourSelves, to stop believing anything that does not resonate deep within us as a humble and authentic truth. If something doesn't feel right, then it isn't. Change course, explore other paths until you feel certain that you are progressing upwards and not falling downwards. This guidance system within each of us is the only compass we must learn to trust.

If this sounds unconvincing, it is perhaps because your natural intuitive ability has been distorted by cultural dogmas designed to warp our innate sense of right and wrong into sensing wrongly what is actually right. Your true nature, as a soul living a physical experience, may still be surreptitiously hidden from you by false beliefs making you blind and deaf to its existence.

Let us throw off this yoke! We can, and we do, the moment we choose to do so... from the depths of our being.

The true revolution that is needed now more than ever to free this world from the shackles of indoctrination and debilitating belief systems starts within each of us. This is the all-important “Open Sesame” needed to shatter the spellbinding illusion that paralyzes us and keeps us trapped.

As more and more people make this choice, the easier it becomes to reject the voices and lies that keep humanity on a warpath toward our own oblivion. Wars are possible only because we consent to them, mostly by remaining silent when presented to us as the only path toward 'security', or to defeat the 'enemies' somewhere out there, while our real archenemies have always been right here beside us, controlling the official narrative fooling us into believing their lies.

So, let us make that choice, free ourselves, and peace will inevitably ensue.

Choosing Unity Over Separation

Making this choice instantly creates the ripe conditions for a complete regeneration of this world. Out of this process will gradually emerge a deep sense of belonging to the very Web of Life that gave birth to our species. We are not apart from the rest of life on Earth. We never were. We are intrinsically One with every single expression of Source, whether animate or seemingly inanimate, fully sentient or not, here on Terra and throughout all multiverses and all dimensions where the manifold expressions of Source thrive.

When we conceive of ourselves as separate entities, alone in this infinite vastness surrounding us, we allow the perpetuation of the most disempowering fallacy that has ever been foisted on a living being. We cut ourselves off from all that sustains us and gives meaning and purpose to our existence. Sages from the past and still nowadays have been teaching us that we are One with Creator. Believing in the delusion of separation is the perfect entrapment into the hell of ignorance about Who We Are, as individuated fractals of Source, endowed with all Its creative powers.

Rising from this self-created illusory hell, billions of embodied souls are ascending back into the knowledge of our Oneness, thus progressing by leaps and bounds on the sacred journey they have been on for so long in the crucible of matter.

If we choose to open ourselves to this emerging universal knowledge, we can facilitate this process. As with a tiny leak in a dike of compacted soil that can grow into a massive flood, the ever burgeoning force of global awakening is ripping through the dam of denial and ignorance, until it can no longer hold the rushing flow of higher consciousness now percolating into every sentient being. The illusion of separation is dissolving before our very eyes.

This is what was always meant to be. Our whole universe is observing with bated breath the steady progress of our graduation into a spiritually awakened species, enabled through eons of evolutionary labor to become a finely tuned vessel for the manifestation of the quintessential Love that Source is.

Renewing the Sacred Bond with Source in Us All

This process of an intelligent species awakening to its true purpose has been repeated over and over through epochal time. There is always a certain level of uncertainty as to its success, because the universal law of free will allows for the collective choices of souls embodied into a school of living such as this planet to lead to a different path. Each time, this is what makes it so precious, unique and unpredictable.

The entropic forces arrayed against such an outcome have a stake in maintaining the status quo to prevent us from soaring to the apotheosis of our own awakening. In doing so, they test the mettle of our spiritual acumen and provide us with the right conditions to strengthen our discernment, so we may graduate with Merit and, in turn, one day play the role of guides for lesser evolved souls, like those shepherding us right now.

Even the laggards, now playing the 'baddies', will also be able to graduate to a higher frequency of existence. No soul is ever left behind. But all souls have at some point to choose to free themselves from the bondage of false beliefs and willingly accept to BE Who They Are. We are all the makers of our own destiny. As fractals of Source, we all enjoy the same freedom to devise our own path. It could not be otherwise. It is in our very nature to be free.

Where Are We Headed?

So, is this world going to ascend to a higher realm of spiritual clarity and planetary rejuvenation? It would seem so. Despite the outward chaos sowed to hamper this, the current trends are unmistakable. Yet, some may prefer to wait for the next evolutionary train to the higher destination where all souls are converging over their countless journeys into the innumerable testing grounds of the multiverses. That is perfectly fine. And you will come to realize, once you are fully aware of Who You Are, that loving every aspect of yourself wholeheartedly is the most natural thing in the world. Understanding this is the redeeming grace that makes it possible to love everyone, even the most 'dastardly' ones among us.

This Manifesto is a reminder of all of the above. We are all going to be fine. No matter what. Our physical bodies will continue to evolve and move toward a new equilibrium, in keeping with the perpetual balancing act that is life in the physical world. Tomorrow will be utterly different from today, just as today is utterly different from yesterday. And what is coming will be truly amazing by today's standards. We ain't seen nothing yet.

For the Record

This document isn't the final iteration of this Manifesto. It is just one way of expressing the underlying vision for this project. As it was discovered through several virtual meetings* between Jean Hudon, Kate Kheel and Amber Yang over the course of nine months in 2025, the vision outlined above is but one of the countless forms it can take through the creative abilities each soul is endowed with. We reached an understanding that the stimulating effect we intend to cocreate through devising this Manifesto is to be accomplished through a near infinite number of ways. In fact, it is already the case, as it has always been, through the countless initiatives and creative ways humans express themselves as we each progress on our own, unique and essential evolutionary path.

No manner of conveying the deeply rooted drive towards Light embedded in each soul is comparatively better or lesser than any other means of expression chosen. All fill a vital niche of outward manifestation in the grand symphony of what our souls are inwardly guided to do and to be.

So please, view this Manifesto as a stepping stone upon which to add your own stone to the cocreation of the wondrous future we are meant to birth through every single conscious choice we make, in every single moment we are aware of Who We Are. Let your Self Be All That You Are. We all need it and we all count on you.

As you'll see if you go read these notes, this vision of a Manifesto for Peace, Unity and Global Renewal is a work in progress with many, many aspects that still need to be fleshed out, even though there is, in these notes, a good starting point for that.

If you feel inspired to contribute to some aspects of it, and wish to share your related thoughts or initiatives with us, let us know at globalvisionary@earthrainbownetwork.com. We will respond as soon as possible.

A website devoted to this Manifesto has not been created yet. We may do so if we sense a need arising for it. For now, we simply hope that what is offered above will resonate with you and gradually percolate through all sorts of ways in the global culture. May it fertilize more and more souls as to what their contributing role can be, or help them realize that they have already been active contributors to the wave of changes carrying us forward as we discover how our collective reality is evolving to be.
